

CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY POLICY

This document formulates Taché's corporate responsibility policy, adopted for the benefit of our customers, our employees, our shareholders, and civil society as a whole. Taché's Corporate Responsibility Policy applies to all Taché staff and all Taché entities, regardless of size, activity, or location. The Policy applies equally to Taché's supply chain and to all suppliers who contribute to their manufacturing. Taché is committed to continuously improve its ethical, social and environmental performance, with the aim to achieve full conformance with the terms of this Policy.

Our vision is defined by the values which underpin our history and determine our future: In keeping with our origin as diamantaires, we strive to exceed the limits of excellence. We are conscious of our heritage and take ownership for our corporate actions. We demand the very best of ourselves, as do our customers. Our customers honour us with their trust. Through our work behaviour and commitment, we endeavour to deserve this trust each passing day.

Principle 1 - We are committed to conducting our businesses to a high ethical standard, and to ensuring integrity, transparency and conformance with applicable law.

- We do comply with the applicable laws and regulations relating to our activities and the countries in which we operate.
- We do strive for continuous improvement of this policy and standards as a means to support the principles we uphold.
- We do communicate our responsible vision and policy throughout our organization and to our business partners. We do make our policy available to all key stakeholders.
- We do continue to require high standards within our supply chain in relation to business ethics, and to align our purchasing policy with our business ethics commitments to the fullest extent possible.

Principle 2 - We are not engaged in bribery and/or corruption

- We do prohibit bribery and corruption in all business transactions carried out by ourselves or through business associates, as such that may compromise the principles of fair competition or constitute an attempt to obtain or retain business or influence the course of the business or governmental decision-making process.
- We do not allow any employee to suffer negative consequences for voicing a concern or refusing to engage in an act of bribery.
- We do prohibit acceptance by ourselves as a company, or by any of our employees, of payments, gifts in kind, expenses, discounts, advantages or promises such that may influence the course of our business decisions.

Principle 3 - We do not tolerate money laundering and/or financing of terrorism

- We do comply with the applicable national and, where appropriate, international accounting and banking standards and processes (such as independent auditing).
- We do comply with national and, where relevant, international and transnationally applicable law with respect to money laundering, financing of terrorism, fraud, and other illegal activities.
- With respect to the above-mentioned issues, we do ensure that our employees are aware of applicable rules and regulations and of company policy and that they are kept abreast of their evolutions.

Principle 4 - We adhere to the Kimberley Process Certification Scheme (KPCS) and the World Diamond Council voluntary system of warranties, whose purpose are to put an end to conflict diamond trade, and support similar future initiatives aiming to protect human rights and the integrity of our supply chain.

- We do not buy conflict diamonds or assist others to do so.
- Our diamond purchases are made in accordance with the KPCS and system of warranties. A supplier statement of warranty is required on all invoices concerning diamonds received by Taché.
- We do keep invoices received, pertaining to the purchase of diamonds, for a minimum period of 5 years for audit and reconciliation purposes.
- We do suspend any supplier relationship in which our supplier is suspected of being involved in conflict diamond trade until we obtain assurances that no such trade dealings are taking place, or that such dealings were taking place without knowledge on the part of the supplier and that the supplier has taken all appropriate measures to end such dealings.
- We do terminate any supplier relationship in which our supplier is found to be knowingly involved in conflict diamond trade and will reserve the right to prosecute the supplier accordingly.

- We do ensure that company employees that buy or sell diamonds are well informed about the Kimberley Process, government restrictions on the trade in conflict diamonds and their duty to abide by Taché policy requirements. We will regularly update our staff on the issue of conflict diamonds and Taché policy in respect to diamond purchasing.
- Beyond the Kimberley Process and the voluntary system of warranties adopted by the diamond industry, we do support and do implement any further procedures or processes agreed together by the diamond industry, governments, and civil society representatives aiming to put an end to trade in conflict diamonds.
- We will play a proactive role to encourage and support similar endeavors, for instance in the area of gemstones and precious metals and, to this effect, will engage with others in order to define and promote appropriate measures.

Principle 5 - We disclose the material characteristics of the products that we sell

- We do comply with the relevant trading standards legislation, and where they exist, specific national regulations and generally accepted industry guidelines applicable to the types of products we sell.
- We do disclose, to our clients and prospective clients, relevant information on the material characteristics of our products, such as, for diamonds: weight, cut, color, clarity and metals: type, alloy and weight in accordance with recognized national and international guidelines.
- We do not make any untruthful, misleading, or deceptive statement, representation or material omission in the promotion or advertising of our products.
- We adhere to high standards of product quality and safety.
- We do ensure adequate training of our staff on our history, heritage, products, and policies in order for them to provide full customer experience and reliable information to clients and prospective clients.

- We do adhere to applicable employment laws and regulations.
- We do ensure that all work performed on behalf of ourselves within our operations is based on recognized employment relationships.
- We do not retain originals of employee personal documentation (such as identity papers), nor require any form of deposit or fee as a condition of the recruitment or employment.
- We do require the same commitments from our business partners who provide us with products and/or services.

Principle 10 – We are committed to high standards of health and safety in our operations

- We do provide safe and healthy working conditions for all employees in accordance with applicable laws and regulations.
- We do take appropriate measures to prevent accidents, injury, and health problems arising from or linked to the course of work activities, in our operations.
- We do ensure that employees are aware of specific role-related health and safety risks and hazards, methods for appropriate protection from such hazards, and action to be taken in the event of an accident.
- We do ensure that our workplaces constitute adequate working environments in accordance with required standards (lighting, ventilation, air quality, noise levels and temperature).
- We offer workplaces which are adequately constructed and maintained to meet local building regulations.
- We ensure employees have access to a mechanism by which they can raise and discuss health and safety issues with management.
- We do monitor health and safety issues and adequately address such issues that arise.

Principle 18 – Our supply chain adheres to the OECD Due Diligence Guidance for Responsible Supply Chains of Minerals from Conflict-Affected and High-Risk Areas.

Recognising that risks of significant adverse impacts which may be associated with extracting, trading, handling and exporting minerals from conflict-affected and high-risk areas, and recognising that we have the responsibility to respect human rights and not contribute to conflict, we commit to adopt, widely disseminate and incorporate in contracts and/or agreements with suppliers the following policy on responsible sourcing of minerals from conflict-affected and high-risk areas by January 2021, as representing a common reference for conflict-sensitive sourcing practices and suppliers' risk awareness from the point of extraction until end user. We commit to refraining from any action which contributes to the financing of conflict and we commit to comply with relevant United Nations sanctions resolutions or, where applicable, domestic laws implementing such resolutions.

- Regarding serious abuses associated with the extraction, transport or trade of minerals:
 1. While sourcing from, or operating in, conflict-affected and high-risk areas, we will neither tolerate nor by any means profit from, contribute to, assist with or facilitate the commission by any party of:
 - i) any forms of torture, cruel, inhuman and degrading treatment;
 - ii) any forms of forced or compulsory labour, which means work or service which is exacted from any person under the menace of penalty and for which said person has not offered himself voluntarily;
 - iii) the worst forms of child labour;²
 - iv) other gross human rights violations and abuses such as widespread sexual violence;
 - v) war crimes or other serious violations of international humanitarian law, crimes against humanity or genocide.

- Regarding risk management of serious abuses:
 2. We will immediately suspend or discontinue engagement with upstream suppliers where we identify a reasonable risk that they are sourcing from, or linked to, any party committing serious abuses as defined in paragraph 1.

- Regarding direct or indirect support to non-state armed groups:
 3. We will not tolerate any direct or indirect support to non-state armed groups through the extraction, transport, trade, handling or export of minerals. “Direct or indirect support” to non-state armed groups through the extraction, transport, trade, handling or export of minerals includes, but is not limited to, procuring minerals from, making payments to or otherwise providing logistical assistance or equipment to, non-state armed groups or their affiliates who:
 - i) illegally control mine sites or otherwise control transportation routes, points where minerals are traded and upstream actors in the supply chain;⁵ and/or
 - ii) illegally tax or extort⁶ money or minerals at points of access to mine sites, along transportation routes or at points where minerals are traded; and/or
 - iii) illegally tax or extort intermediaries, export companies or international traders.

- Regarding risk management of direct or indirect support to non-state armed groups:

- Regarding public or private security forces:

5. We agree to eliminate, in accordance with paragraph 10, direct or indirect support to public or private security forces who illegally control mine sites, transportation routes and upstream actors in the supply chain; illegally tax or extort money or minerals at point of access to mine sites, along transportation routes or at points where minerals are traded; or illegally tax or extort intermediaries, export companies or international traders.
6. We recognise that the role of public or private security forces at the mine sites and/or surrounding areas and/or along transportation routes should be solely to maintain the rule of law, including safeguarding human rights, providing security to mine workers, equipment and facilities, and protecting the mine site or transportation routes from interference with legitimate extraction and trade.
7. Where we or any company in our supply chain contract public or private security forces, we commit to or we will require that such security forces will be engaged in accordance with the Voluntary Principles on Security and Human Rights. In particular, we will support or take steps, to adopt screening policies to ensure that individuals or units of security forces that are known to have been responsible for gross human rights abuses will not be hired.
8. We will support efforts, or take steps, to engage with central or local authorities, international organisations and civil society organisations to contribute to workable solutions on how transparency, proportionality and accountability in payments made to public security forces for the provision of security could be improved.
9. We will support efforts, or take steps, to engage with local authorities, international organisations and civil society organisations to avoid or minimise the exposure of vulnerable groups, in particular, artisanal miners.

- Regarding risk management of public or private security forces:

10. In accordance with the specific position of the company in the supply chain, we will immediately devise, adopt and implement a risk management plan with upstream suppliers and other stakeholders to prevent or mitigate the risk of direct or indirect support to public or private security forces, as identified in paragraph 5, where we identify that such a reasonable risk exists. In such cases, we will suspend or discontinue engagement with upstream suppliers after failed attempts at mitigation within six months from the adoption of the risk management plan. Where we identify a reasonable risk of activities inconsistent with paragraphs 8 and 9, we will respond in the same vein.

- Regarding bribery and fraudulent misrepresentation of the origin of minerals:

11. We will not offer, promise, give or demand any bribes, and will resist the solicitation of bribes to conceal or disguise the origin of minerals, to misrepresent taxes, fees and royalties paid to governments for the purposes of mineral extraction, trade, handling, transport and export.

- Regarding money laundering:

12. We will support efforts, or take steps, to contribute to the effective elimination of money laundering where we identify a reasonable risk of money-laundering resulting from, or connected to, the extraction, trade, handling, transport or export of minerals derived from the illegal taxation or extortion of minerals at points of access to mine sites, along transportation routes or at points where minerals are traded by upstream suppliers.

- Regarding the payment of taxes, fees and royalties due to governments:

13. We will ensure that all taxes, fees, and royalties related to mineral extraction, trade and export from conflict-affected and high-risk areas are paid to governments and, in accordance with the company's position in the supply chain, we commit to disclose such payments in accordance with the principles set forth under the Extractive Industry Transparency Initiative (EITI).

- Regarding risk management of bribery and fraudulent misrepresentation of the origin of minerals, money-laundering and payment of taxes, fees and royalties to governments:

14. In accordance with the specific position of the company in the supply chain, we commit to engage with suppliers, central or local governmental authorities, international organisations, civil society and affected third parties, as appropriate, to improve and track performance with a view to preventing or mitigating risks of adverse impacts through measurable steps taken in reasonable timescales. We will suspend or discontinue engagement with upstream suppliers after failed attempts at mitigation.

Principle 19 – We do conduct our businesses in an environmentally responsible manner

- We do ensure compliance of our sites with relevant legal requirements, environmental norms and specific industrial environment regulations and have appropriate mechanisms in place to keep management and key staff up to date.
- We do comply with applicable conventions and regulations regarding the protection of endangered species.
- We seek to minimize the use of hazardous substances in production processes and use alternatives wherever technically feasible and possible.
